Part A

When we contract (shorten) words, we need to use an apostrophe to show that there are letters missing. There are lots of examples of contracted words in the story 'Ronald the Rhino'.

Examples: I'll, he's, you've, can't, doesn't

- 1. The words below are all contractions but the apostrophes have been stolen by the punctuation thief. Can you help by rewriting the words with the missing apostrophes in the correct place?
  - a. Ive _____
  - b. arent _____
  - c. cant _____
  - d. theyre _____
  - e. theyll _____
  - f. weve _____

- 2. The words below can all be contracted. Can you write the contracted version for each of these? Some have been done for you.
  - a. we will we'll
  - b. she will _____
  - c. I will _____
  - d. he would he'd
  - e. she would _____
  - f. they would _____
  - g. they have they've
  - h. we have _____

Part A

3. Can you find any other examples Rhino' story? Make a list below:	of	contracted	words	เท	the	Ronald	l th
	-
	-
	_
	-

Part B

When we contract (shorten) words, we need to use an apostrophe to show that there are letters missing. There are lots of examples of contracted words in the story 'Ronald the Rhino'.

Examples: I'll, he's, you've, can't, doesn't

The punctuation thief has stolen all of the apostrophes in these sentences. Can you help by finding where the apostrophes are missing and adding them back in? The first one has been found and underlined for you.

Ronald the Rhino lives in a rainforest in Java, Indonesia. Hes a friendly rhino but he feels lonely because hes the only rhino around. Oh, how hed love to be like the other animals!

If he was like Leopard, hed run and jump and hed climb up high. He could pick the juiciest berries from the top of the trees and he wouldnt have to eat the ones on the floor! Hed be an expert climber and the leopards would all say, "Look out, here comes Ronald! Hell show us how to climb the tallest trees!"

If he was like Python, hed slither along quietly in the bushes so he couldnt be seen. His skin would have beautiful patterns and he wouldnt be boring dusky grey. He wouldnt be lonely because thered be other snakes for Ronald to play with.

But Ronald isnt like the other animals - hes a Javan rhino and that makes him glum. "I havent got any friends like me!" he cries.

* * * Challenge Task *
-	re contracted and then use each contraction in
a sentence:
• are not	• it is
• cannot	• that is
• will not	• he will
• they are	• she would
• they will	• they have
Write your sentences here:

Apostrophes - Missing Letters Answers

Part A

When we contract (shorten) words, we need to use an apostrophe to show that there are letters missing. There are lots of examples of contracted words in the story 'Ronald the Rhino'.

Examples: I'll, he's, you've, can't, doesn't

- 1. The words below are all contractions but the apostrophes have been stolen by the punctuation thief. Can you help by rewriting the words with the missing apostrophes in the correct place?
  - a. Ive I've
  - b. arent aren't
  - c. cant can't
  - d. theyre they're
  - e. theyll they'll
  - f. weve we've

- 2. The words below can all be contracted. Can you write the contracted version for each of these? Some have been done for you.
  - a. we will we'll
  - b. she will she'll
  - c. I will 1'11
  - d. he would he'd
  - e. she would she'd
  - f. they would they'd
  - g. they have they've
  - h. we have we've

Apostrophes - Missing Letters Answers

Part B

When we contract (shorten) words, we need to use an apostrophe to show that there are letters missing. There are lots of examples of contracted words in the story 'Ronald the Rhino'.

Examples: I'll, he's, you've, can't, doesn't

The punctuation thief has stolen all of the apostrophes in these sentences. Can you help by finding where the apostrophes are missing and adding them back in? The first one has been found and underlined for you.

Ronald the Rhino lives in a rainforest in Java, Indonesia. He's a friendly rhino but he feels lonely because he's the only rhino around. Oh, how he'd love to be like the other animals!

If he was like Leopard, he'd run and jump and he'd climb up high. He could pick the juiciest berries from the top of the trees and he wouldnt have to eat the ones on the floor! He'd be an expert climber and the leopards would all say, "Look out, here comes Ronald! He'll show us how to climb the tallest trees!"

If he was like Python, he'd slither along quietly in the bushes so he couldn't be seen. His skin would have beautiful patterns and he wouldn't be boring dusky grey. He wouldn't be lonely because there'd be other snakes for Ronald to play with.

But Ronald isn't like the other animals - he's a Javan rhino and that makes him glum. "I haven't got any friends like me!" he cries.

Apostrophes - Missing Letters Answers

Challenge Task **

Change these words so they are contracted and then use each contraction in a sentence:

- · are not aren't
- · cannot can't
- · will not won't
- · they are they're
- they will they'll

- it is it's
- · that is that's
- · he will he'll
- she would she'd
- they have they've

Write your sentences here:

Accept any answer that includes a contraction used correctly.

Example Answers:

- · It's my birthday.
- · That's a nice coat.
- · He'll be out to play shortly.
- · She'd like a piece of pizza.