

Duncan's Thoughts

Draw what you think Duncan looks like in the middle of this box. Finish each of the thought bubbles to show what he might be thinking after he has read the first few letters from his crayons.

I wish...

I had no idea that...

I am sorry...

From now on...

Challenge Task

Can you think of your own thought bubble or speech bubble for Duncan? Write it on a whiteboard and show it to your friend.

Duncan's Thoughts Answers

Children's own response.

Example answers:

I wish I had known that Red Crayon was so tired.

From now on I will be much neater.

I had no idea that Beige Crayon was so fed up of being called light brown.

I am sorry that I have used Grey Crayon to colour in all the big animals.

Challenge Task

Can you think of your own thought bubble or speech bubble for Duncan?
Write it on a whiteboard and show it to your friend.

Children's own response.

Example answer:

I wonder what I can do to make the crayons happy again.