

Dear Giant,

I'm Jack, the boy with the ginger hair who has caused you lots of trouble. I thought I was in danger at your house, so I ran away without explaining myself. I just wanted to say sorry for stealing your things, and I would like to return them to you.

I'm hoping to plant some more magic beans in June to grow another huge beanstalk in July. I will climb up and bring back your things. Please promise to be gentle with me next time I see you. Please don't put me in a cage or a jar.

You were very generous to let me keep the hen. I have sold a golden egg and bought some new jeans and a sledge.

See you in July.

Jack
